Parents of participating juniors are responsible for transportation of art work to the show. A shipping address will be provided later but it is highly recommended that artwork be hand delivered directly to the show by family or friends if the junior is not able to do so her/himself. Directly after the auction, unsold work may be collected by designated family or friend indicated on the entry. No work will be shipped home.

A reserve may be set by the Junior Artist if he/she wishes, but reasonable expectations in light of the current economy should be exercised. Neither should the Junior Artist be expected to set too low a price as his/her work is frequently as well executed and as desirable as that of adult artists.
