Unique Zoitiques

By Cindy Michalak

With the show season coming to an end for the year, hopefully there are a lot of new champions out there to carry on the genes and produce some new ones for 2015. I know I sure have been having fun showing my puppy this past year! I was even lucky enough to snatch a major from the puppy class. Enough horsing around though because my main concern here is COLLECTING! Oh, you guessed what I'm going to write about, did ya? I know there are many avid Borzoi breeders out there that also have horses. While not the easiest collectible to find, I did manage to gather 7 for you to see!

this artist and not mass-produced. A piece as lovely and descriptive as this should fetch around $50.

On the gaudy side comes this old carnival chalkware. These were often found at fairs and carnivals where they were given out as prizes for guessing your weight, age or occupation. It was a common sight to see these colorful statues made out of chalk, which was an inexpensive way of producing such items.

However, over the years, these were easily broken and many were lost over time. As you can see, this one has a few bumps and bruises where the paint was chipped off. There are actually two Borzoi there, although they blended in the two heads that are looking backwards at Romeo and Juliet. This particular piece also came in saltstone, and was more than likely designed by Santini of Italy, mentioned later. Measuring 9" x 10", this uncommon statue is valued at around $40.

To begin I have an uncommon old silhouette showing Borzoi freely running the field with a horse. It has lovely tones of orange indicating it is dusk. The dogs and horse were reverse painted onto the glass with the decorated cardboard backing to accentuate the scene. It measures 12" x 5"; small enough to fit in anywhere and very pretty, with a value of $20.

Russian artists create some of the most beautiful wearable art, such as this charming scene of a man on horseback with 3 gorgeous red and white Borzoi walking alongside. These pin types are made out of papier maché.

I believe they are hollow, thus making them a little fragile, so you probably wouldn't want to drop it! It measures 2 3/4" across and is signed HA OXOTY then Caegkoba Okchaha dated 15-03-96. It is rare that you find two painted alike as it was all in the imagination and hand painting from

This picture is one of my all-time favorites. It was made two ways from what I understand. Mine measures 15" x 31" and shows a man on horseback greeting his lady with a pretty Borzoi barking at him, as well as showing two running Borzoi in the background. Gwen Post said the one she has does not show the two Borzoi running in the field. It is from around the 1950s and signed Gobbi. On the rare side, I value this at around $80.

This next piece is made by Santini, a sculptor born in Italy, 1910. He became an apprentice sculptor at the age of twelve. He implemented the process of combining marble, alabaster and resin leav-

December 24, 2006 - October 15, 2014

Frosty was more than his wins. He was a true gentleman and ambassador for our breed - to dogs and humans. As a fellow fancier said " He was magnificent in every way." He taught me so much about unconditional love and took me places I never thought I'd go. Then in a blink life went by, he was gone and we are left trying to move on.

Just know big dude in my heart I see you everywhere...

Tragically he passed away from a splenic tumor

ing a smooth feel to the statue. However, this one is actually made out of saltstone, which feels rather grainy. As you can see, the soapstone also soils easy and is difficult to clean as it can obviously wash away.

Rarer than many other Borzoi figures by Santini, it measures 6" x 4½". Many of the Santini Borzoi pieces have

A darling sight to behold! A Borzoi running alongside of a foal. The Borzoi has a satisfied and happy look on its face. Although only a mold number of 3070 embossed on the base, I am quite certain this is a German piece, judging from the detail and feel of the fine porcelain. It measures only 6.5" x 5" but is still a dynamic figurine. Not a very common statue, its value would be around $75.

As mentioned previously, chalkware is really plaster of paris and was an inexpensive way of producing statues from the 1910s to 1940s.

This is one of my favorite chalks. I also had this in saltstone, but decided to only keep the nicely painted chalk version. Diana the Huntress riding on horseback with her 2 beautiful Borzoi in full pursuit of their game and leading the way. Luckily this one is in near perfect condition and one that I love. Measuring 11" x 13", I value it at $100, because of condition, theme and difficulty to find.

That wraps up another year of enjoying each other's company and dogs. Wishing you a very happy holiday season! Sending sunshine and happiness to everyone, and positive thoughts to those that need it! See you next year...

BCOA is happy to offer EXPANDED CGC Testing in 2015!

AKC recognizes CGC as a title

Let BCOA take care of the paperwork and you get a terrific rosette, too!

We will again be offering CGC testing:

https://www.akc.org/events/cgc/training_testing.cfm

*NEW CGCA testing will also be offered

A dog MUST have a CGC on record with AKC before taking this test.

https://www.akc.org/dogowner/training/akc_community_canine/test_items.cfm

SOME of the test items are the same but are NOT performed in a ring – they are performed and evaluated IN PUBLIC.

There are additional items on the test, for example a brief group Sit exercise.

The AKC Canine Health Foundation Takes Aim at Periodontal Disease in Dogs

Periodontal disease is the most common clinical condition in adult dogs, and if left untreated could cause extreme gum damage, tooth loss and pain. By three years of age, most dogs have some evidence of periodontal disease and associated discomfort. In an effort to speed progress in prevention and effective treatment of canine periodontal disease, the AKC Canine Health Foundation (CHF) has awarded two research grants to improve the oral health of dogs.

Dr. Paola Massari, PhD, of Boston Medical Center aims to develop an effective canine periodontal disease vaccine. She believes most effective targeted interventions against periodontal pathogens will be through effective immunization, directing a dog's own immune system to combat the bacteria responsible for disease.

Dr. Django Martel, DVM, and his colleagues at the Animal Medical Center will establish whether the use of antibiotic gel therapy reduces periodontal disease and provide veterinarians with the evidence needed for effective periodontal disease management.

According to Dr. Shila Nordone, CHF's Chief Scientific Officer, "Just like periodontal disease in humans, periodontal disease in dogs is a painful condition that profoundly affects quality of life and can lead to a multitude of health problems. We have strategically funded research that will have immediate impact by supporting the evidence-based use of antibiotic gels to treat progressive disease, while also funding research that will provide a long term solution by developing an effective vaccine to prevent the disease from occurring in the first place."

In conjunction with the announcement of this research funding, CHF is also releasing a free podcast entitled, "Periodontal Disease and Dental Health in Dogs" with Dr. Jan Bellows, DVM a Diplomate of the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners and a Diplomate of the American Veterinary Dental College.

To support these grants and to learn how a donation to CHF will help redefine the practice of veterinary medicine, visit our website.

And remember! Between now and December 31, 2014 any donation from a new or lapsed donor* will be matched by the American Kennel Club. There's no better time than now to encourage friends and family members who share your love of dogs to support the health of our four-legged best friends.
